Hi [REDACTED] Happy Holidays and hope you're doing well.

I think we're having more issues with squirrels, see the attached photos. I can hear them playing around/scraping the roof/maybe even mating up there. I think they are getting up there due to the tree limbs (maybe a trim to stop them from climbing up). Maybe the gutters are also providing them a "safe spot" to relax at night? because I can hear it all throughout. When they are scampering up there, there's no telling what nooks and crannies they explore or what they could tear up. Help!

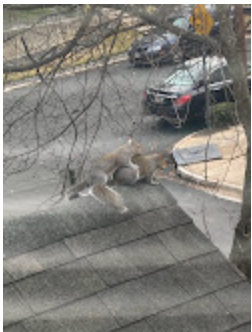

Thanks, Haroon
